What We Are Learning

Math- We will continue learning and practicing our basic multiplication facts throughout the month of November. Please continue to work with your child at home on these facts. The more you practice at home, the more success they will have at school. Later in the month, we will relate our knowledge of multiplication to area. We will learn how to calculate the area of rectangles, squares, and composite figures.

Reading/Writing- We will be starting our third unit of Reading in the month of November. We will be reading several different expository texts related to space and history. We will also be reading several different folktales that teach us themes or lessons relative to our lives.

Grammar/Spelling- During the month of November, we will switch our focus from learning about nouns to learning about verbs. We will learn how to identify a verb, how to spell verbs in different tenses, and how to properly use different verbs in a sentence.

Social Studies- We will spend the rest of this semester learning about economics. They will get introduced to budgiting. Archer Credit Union will come visit our classrooms and help build an understanding of what budgiting can look like at home.
