

GOOD TO KNOW:

Thank you for keeping the cycle of planners and take home folders rolling! We appreciate your continued communication in the planners and the time you take to review papers to be kept at home!

Enjoy your Fall Break! Take time to listen to your child read. It would be great to encourage your third grader to keep a journal at home, where they are able to write stories or even journal their days as third graders!! This journal would be fun to revisit when your child is a senior!! They grow up SO FAST!!

We hope you made your way to the Book Fair or had a chance to order online!

Reminder: Bring your jackets to school for early morning recess! If you have an extra jacket, feel free to leave it at school.

WHAT WE ARE LEARNING:

Science we are still in the process of discovering how Changes in the Ecosystem affect the organisms that live there. We will or have already made fossils and are in the process of learning what they tell us about the environment.

Social Studies we are excited to begin our new Social Studies Magazine called, How America works. The third grade will be learning about three branches of our government, as well other forms of government!

Language Arts we are very excited about the stories the students have been writing. The students are expanding their topics for writing. The kids are really enjoying this. Writing connected with our study of grammar is a perfect combination for some interesting stories!

Math It's time to start SUBTRACTION!! Chapter Three is full of hands on strategies to teach us how to subtract all the way up to Four-Digit Numbers! The third grade will continue to become Subtraction Super Stars!!
